Parents should take courses in parenting in order to improve the lives of their children. To what extent do you agree?

Introduction: (R) Rephrase – (O) Opinion

(R) In the modern era, whilst some couples opine that parental education programs are pivotal (essential) for rearing/raising children, opponents argue that they are unnecessary because it is an innate/inborn skill. (O) However, in my opinion, these workshops are quintessential (important) to nurturing psychologically stable youths.

Body 1: (T) Topic sentence – (E) Explain – (X) Example – (S)

(T) To embark on, parenting classes play an imperative (major) role because they develop communication skills between mothers and fathers and their infants. (E) This means that if parents attend professional discipline (coaching/training) workshops, these classes will bridge the generation gap between guardians (parents) and their dependents and help caretakers understand the emotional needs of their juveniles based on their age group. (X) An eminent example is that Denmark and Sweden have been ranked as the best places in the world to raise children because of their child-rearing parenting educational courses. (S) As a result, what can be said is that parenting skills have a considerable influence on most aspects of a child's development.

Body 1: (T) Topic sentence – (E) Explain – (X) Example – (S)

(T) Moreover, these sessions help parents to know how to safeguard their sons and daughters from the detrimental effects of the cultural impacts (effects) and social media. (E) In other words, when custodians (parents/guardians) attend such courses, they will know how to curtail the risk of child abuse, whether sexually or emotionally, by any offender. (X) For example, a research study conducted by Washington University emphasizes (confirm/affirm) that parenting programs lessen child exploitation and negative externalizing behaviors (type of disorder) such as delinquency (disregarding). (S) Thus, not only is caregiver training pivotal for improving the mental health of offspring, but also it is crucial for parent-child interactions.

Conclusion: (S) Summary – (O) Opinion

(S) In conclusion, by highlighting the above-mentioned points, it can be reiterated that educational upbringing programs have beneficial consequences on raising future adolescents. (O) Moreover, definitely the authorities should obligate parents to join such programs before they plan to beget (have) a newborn.
