(5 minutes)

- Do you work or study?

Well, I'm a teacher, and I've been working for 25 years. I do enjoy my job.

- Where do you work?

Actually, I work at Cairo University, and I've been there for many years.

- How do you get to work? (transportation)

Mmm. Usually, I take Uber, but it costs an arm and a leg.

- Do you prefer walking or taking public transportation to work?

Basically, walking is my cup of tea because it's healthy and it gets me into a good mood.

- Do you like chatting? WHTFM

You know, chatting is a waste of time, but still I chat with my family and friends whenever I have time to do that.

- Do you prefer to chat with a group of friends or just one friend?
 - Do you like to chat face to face or online? WHTFM
- It depends because if my relatives live abroad, then it's better to chat online. For example, I usually use IMO or messenger WhatsApp.

- Do you usually run?
- Is running important?
- When was the last time you ran?

Part 2 (Cue Card): you have 1 minute to prepare the idea.

Talk about a friend of you who learnt your language. You should say

- who he/she is
- where he/she is from
- how he/she learnt your language and explain how you feel about him/her.

Sample Essay (Topic July 2024)

Some people prefer to buy local commodities, while others think that world wide products have a better quality. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Introduction R (while: compl (O) (that: complx)	Shopping has become an addiction to many around the world. R: (whilst) Many consumers around the world prefer to purchase domestic products, whilst others think that international brand names are of a better quality. O: opinion (complex: I am of the belief that...) I am totally convinced that supporting local industries should be encouraged, and
Body 1 Title (COHERENCE MARKER) T E (when/ if) X S	Proponents On one hand, some citizens in every country fully endorse the local commodities for an economic reason. In other words, when factories in a specific country prospers in its quantity and quality of production, this means that more manpower will be hired, and this in its turn is an economic privilege. In Egypt, for example, many consumers prefer to buy clothes made of the Egyptian cotton, and this has drastically reduced unemployment. This means that commodities, which are locally produced, will be cheaper for all citizens than their international counterparts. (87 words)
Body 2 (COHERENCE MARKER) CHIPSET	Opponents On the other hand, opponents have a diverse view that goods of international names have a better quality, which can serve anyone professionally. If someone applies for a job at some multinational companies, sometimes he is required to wear a brand because this may give a professional and personal impression about the candidate. According to an article published in "The Economist", job interviews at some corporations necessitate a prestigious outfit, since candidates will present their work place in marketing or sales presentations. This article is a proof that if applicants aspire to find a vacancy in the world market, they have to buy brands. (104 words)
Conclusion S(O)	In summary, after presenting both points of view, it can be reiterated that some customers support their local industries, whereas others conceive of international brand names as professionally prestigious at work. I second/support the first view because if the industry of the country thrives, this will have a plethora of economic benefits for both manufacturers and consumers.
